INSTITUTIONAL ANIMAL CARE AND USE COMMITTEE (IACUC).

Non-major operative procedures and all surgery on rodents do not require a dedicated facility, but must be performed using aseptic procedures.

The procedure area at the population lab is not being maintained in an appropriately clean condition. It is apparent that the last investigators using the procedure area did not clean up after themselves as evidenced by the used materials and scattered shavings. The work space is cluttered with old equipment, unused items, and other material such that the area has become very difficult to keep clean. The counters are covered with dust except a small space where procedures are done.

An important part of aseptic procedures involves maintaining a clean work area. This area needs to be cleaned and then maintained on a regular basis. Correct by 11 Feb 2011
